To Miss Carmichael and Miss Sifford WE DEDICATE the 1963 MUSTANG

Miss Patsy Sifford

Miss Carmichael's active interest in her pupils inspires them to greater achievement in their studies. She is patient and encouraging with each: to the average student, she gives understanding and an incentive to learn; to the advanced, she lends further knowledge. Her personality and warm sense of humor make the classroom more meaningful to all.

Miss Sifford, in her second year as counselor, continues to give assistance to each individual. Her sincerity and utmost desire to help make her truly appreciated by all those who seek advice or guidance. For their willingness to give of their time for student activities and their unfailing support of the Myers Park student, we dedicate the 1963 Mustang.

I'M A

MUSTANG
PROUDER

As each student recalls his year 1963 at Myers Park, a feeling of pride predominates all other emotions. "I'm a Mustang, couldn't be prouder," although yelled just at games, is felt at other times when we remember our campus, the appearance of our school; curriculum, the development of our minds; and colors, the exemplification of the Myers Park spirit.

Welcoming committee students greet a visitor. Our friendliness and congeniality reveal school spirit.

MYERS PARK HIGH SCHOOL
MUSTANGS

"Mustang" decals and stickers on cars exhibit students' pride in saying, "I'm a Mustang." School license plates also serve to identify our cars from Mustang-land.

Cheerers yelling "I'm a Mustang, couldn't be prouder" at sports activities reveal our enthusiasm.

In maintaining a beautiful, distinguished campus, students themselves assume many of the responsibilities. Clubs sponsor service projects, as cleaning the grounds and planting attractive shrubbery.

From an architectural viewpoint, Myers Park prides itself in having an outstanding physical plant. During the year we are often host to numerous visitors who admire the convenience of our buildings.

P

Throughout Myers Park's history, our campus has been one source of pride. Our well-designed buildings are frequently shown to admiring visitors. Service projects have revealed our ambition to keep Myers Park stately, dignified.

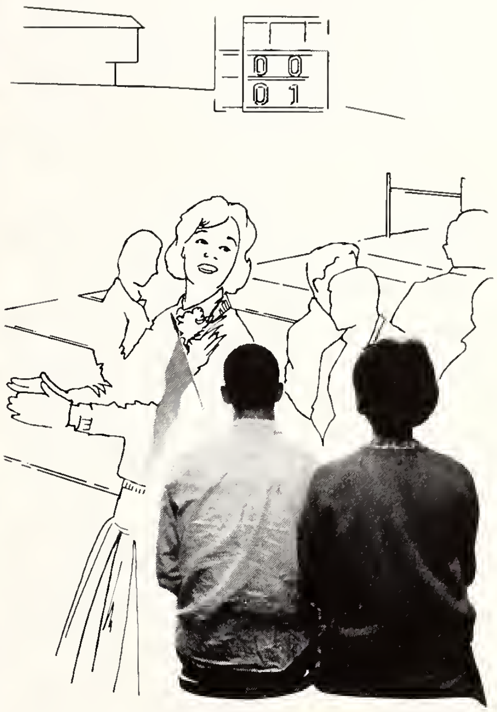
Unity of purpose and the spirit of attainment have prevailed throughout the year. Blazing colors, green and white, symbolize enthusiasm in the diverse activities of the Myers Park students.



Part of the excitement for a big game lies in the decoration of a car. Green and white streamers and banners add to the spirit of an athletic contest. Such enthusiasm often contributes to victory.

Having a large gathering at sports activities results in the pride which Mustangs hold for school endeavors. Cheerleaders and rooters join together to display the pep which encourages our teams.

CURRICULUM

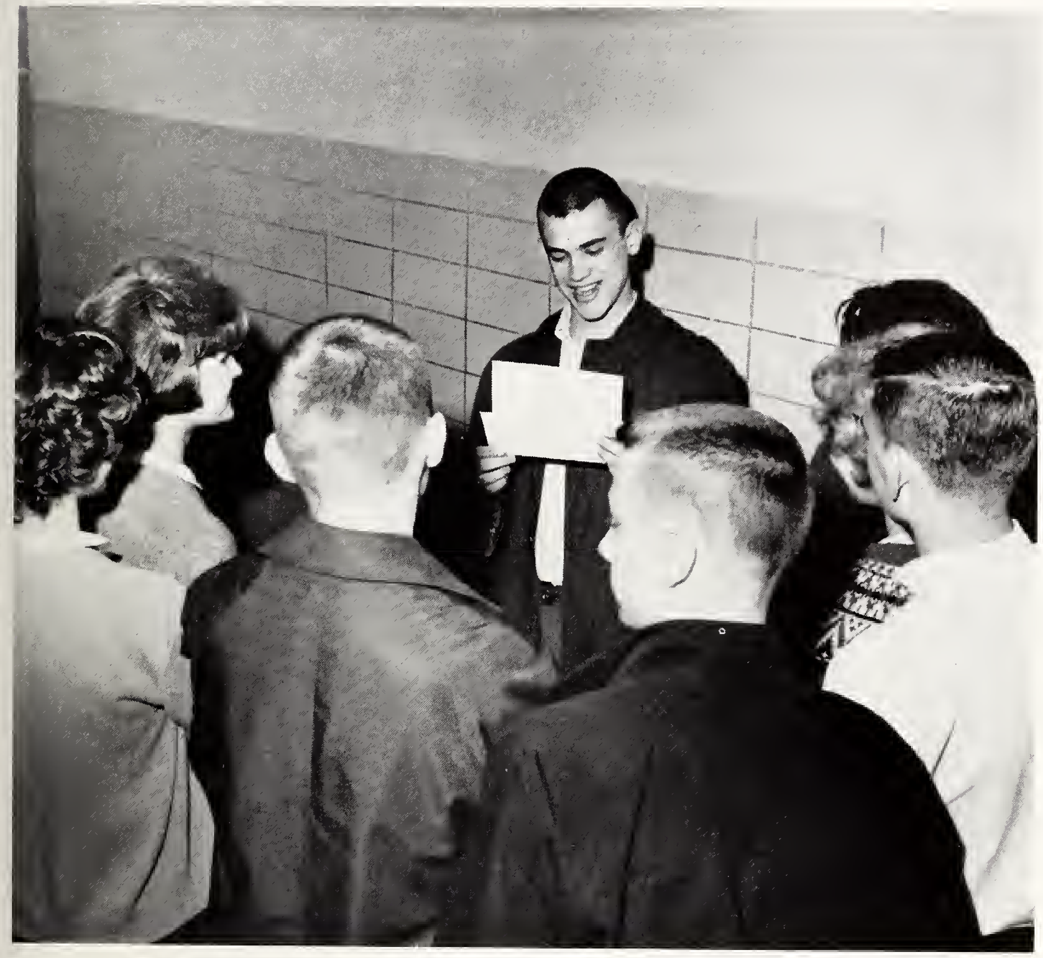
Considered one of the South's finest academic programs, Myers Park's curriculum has produced outstanding scholars and informed leaders. Teachers and students work together industriously to accomplish the main objective in the high school years.



Receiving an early decision acceptance from a college results from our vigorous academic program.

Distinguished speakers come to Myers Park for both curricular and extra-curricular activities. Our Japanese visitor, Mr. Kakei, discussed the hokku form and showed slides during an assembly.

ACTIVITIES

Myers Park hosts Student Council Convention

Dance Committee Chairmen Sally Boger and Lynn Wilson decorate for the winter dance. They planned the first Valentine Dance in three years.

Myers Park's Student Council officers led the student body in many outstanding projects. This year, Myers Park had the honor of being host to the North Carolina State Student Council Congress. Four hundred delegates participating in the convention were housed by Myers Park students. Myers Park was in charge of correspondence, registration of the delegates, and social activities during their stay. Highlights of the convention were a banquet, a talent show, and a semi-formal dance. Monroe Gilmour, Margaret Barnes, and Saxby Chaplin, Myers Park's official delegates to the convention, attended discussion sessions with visiting delegates.

For two weeks at the end of October, Myers Park participated in the Operation Amigo program. Fourteen Peruvian students lived in the homes of Myers Park students and attended classes with them. In addition to school activities, including a sock-hop, the Amigos toured Charlotte and various places of interest in North Carolina.

Public Relations Committee Chairmen Roberta Frost and Monty Hogewood worked to keep Senior Privileges and to obtain new ones. Starting in November, a "library night" for seniors was introduced, completely managed by students. Sandy Welton, chairman of the Student Opinions Committee, reported on suggestions from the suggestion box. The Elections Committee, headed by Nancy Manning, took charge of all elections held at school, mainly Student Council elections.

The Citizenship Committee presented an Honor Corps to the student body late in the Fall as a means of raising the personal integrity of Myers Park students. The Honor Corps was selected as the best type of honor system for Myers Park after a year of study by the Citizenship Committee. The School Spirit Committee arranged the entertainment for the intermission of the Homecoming Dance and sponsored a School Spirit Week before the East football game. Assembly Committee Chairmen Buddy Finch and Faison Kuester coordinated all assemblies held during school hours. The Athletic Committee, headed by George Elliot, Jack Hemphill, George Edwards, and Steve Annas, was in charge of intramurals, which provided boys not engaged in varsity sports the opportunity of participating in an organized sports program. Bill Jeffries and Bill Bolen, chairmen of the House and Grounds Committee, kept the campus in as good shape as possible. Publicity Committee Chairmen French Boyd and Margaret Barnes supported the athletic teams by making and putting up posters and banners before each game. Myers Park's exchange student to Norway, Caroline Elliot, headed the American Field Service Committee.

Myers Park's service projects were topped by collecting four hundred and fifty dollars to contribute to the Empty Stocking Fund and for the annual gift to the maintenance staff. A Student Council meeting held before the entire student body at the end of the year climaxed the Student Council's busy year.

Ambassadors entertain faculty at Christmas party

Betty Jones sells pompom to John Faulk.

Girls from the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades have a busy year of serving others through the Girl Ambassadors Club. Their activities are not confined to the school, but include civic services as well. New girls at Myers Park get acquainted each year at the Ambassadors' New Girls Tea. Making and selling pompoms is always the club's most important project during football season.

December is a month crowded with activities for the club. First on the schedule is the annual faculty Christmas banquet. Talented members put on an array of entertainment for their teachers. To add seasonal spirit to the campus the girls decorate the large tree beside the library. While on Christmas vacation the Ambassadors give a party for the children at Good Samaritan Hospital. They also go caroling at the homes of the faculty.

As the year progresses, the club's enthusiasm does not dwindle. Collecting for the March of Dimes is the first project after semester exams.

During second semester, girls who have the required number of points and have been approved by the members are inducted into the club. Also, in the last half of the year, there is a cake bake, which is the club's most prosperous project. Entertainment and soft drinks are provided for the Sadie Hawkins picnic by the Key Club and Ambassadors.

At faculty Christmas banquet Birch Lipford, Roberta Frost, Sally Boger, Corinne Horne, and Townley Spratt present skit "Mountain Dew." Other talented Ambassadors also entertained teachers with original acts after dinner. Each member took part in preparation of banquet.

Key Club sponsors buses to out-of-city games

Sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, the Myers Park Key Club is responsible for aiding their community through their high school activities. This responsibility makes it necessary for the members to devote more time to club projects.

The Key Club's schedule begins with the opening of school. Selling advertisements for the Key Club Directory starts in the early fall. The day before Christmas holidays begin these booklets are distributed free to each student. When the Peruvian Amigos were at MP, the Key Club gave an open house and dance in their honor after the Harding football game. To help promote school support for the football team the club sponsored buses for students to the Salisbury and Rocky Mount football games. The turnout for this project was so large that more buses had to be chartered at the last minute. Also, in the way of school spirit, the club furnished flowers for the cheerleaders for each football game. To help Mustangs publicize their school pride, the Key Clubbers sell Mustang license plates. When Thanksgiving and Christmas roll around, the club always proves itself most generous. The members give their full support to the collection of canned goods at Thanksgiving. The next month is a busy one for them. Money is donated to the gift drive for the maids and janitors. In March comes the annual Key Club District Conveniton in Charleston, South Carolina. Five representatives are elected from the Myers Park Key Club. At the Honors and Awards Assembly the club annually presents the Sportsmanship trophy. A tally of the events of the Key Club's year shows that they have well met the standards set up by the Kiwanis Club.

Anxiously anticipating bus trip to football game, Sara Alexander and Saxby Chaplin wait in bus for departure. Anne Townsley, Jim Kessaris, and Ken Cannady give tickets to Norman Pease and Bobby Boyd before boarding bus. Buses were under the sponsorship of Key Club.

Van Wagner and Benoit put Mustang plate on car.

As an incentive to new students to stress academic study, the four officers of the National Honor Society spoke at the fall initiation concerning the four standards of the Honor Society: Scholarship, Leadership, Service, and Character. In an impressive ceremony, the top ten per cent of the senior class was tapped in the first induction ceremonies held in Myers Park's auditorium. That night, new members provided entertainment for old members through skits, songs, and impersonations.

To raise money to buy a flag and spotlight for the school gymnasium, members offered their services as tutors. Beginning in February, several students were in the library first and eighth periods to offer their assistance; private tutoring was available when desired.

In the Spring, to climax the year's work, the top fifteen per cent of the senior class and the top five per cent of the junior class were initiated.

Debate teams participate at Wake Forest

Working outside school fills most of the Debate Club's program. Debates on the National Debate topic, "Resolved: That the United States should promote a Common Market for the Western Hemisphere," were prepared when the topic was announced. During February, the varsity and JV teams were chosen through practice sessions, along with the teams which will represent Myers Park at Emory, Wake Forest, and Winthrop Forums. The club ends its year with an annual banquet.

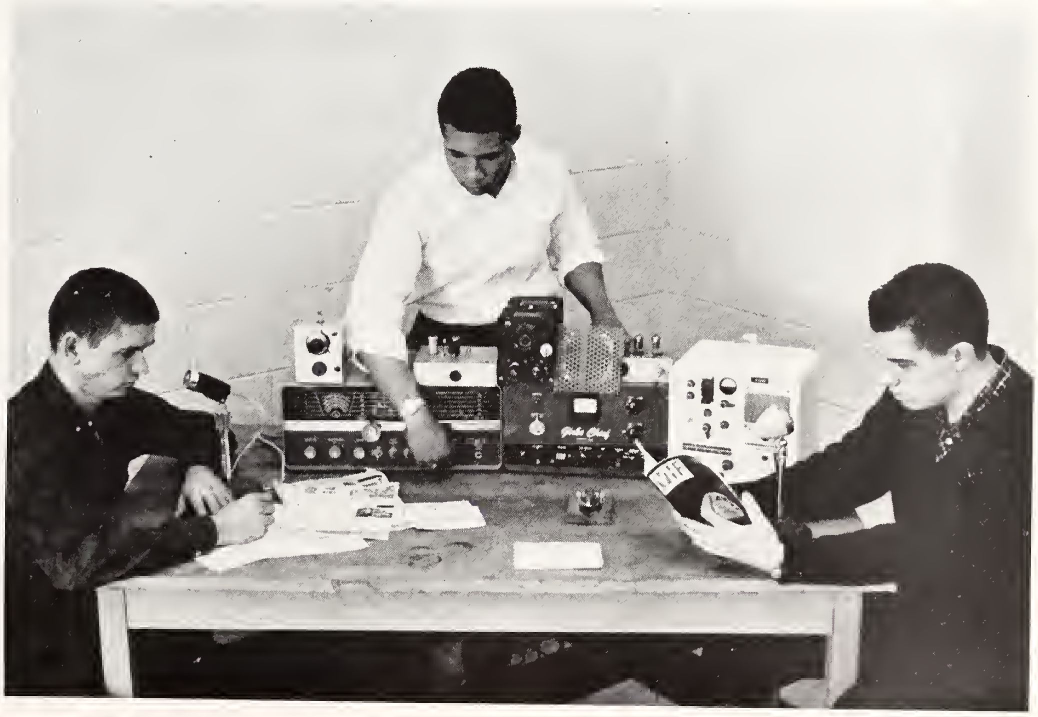
Co-President Mike Burkhead, Secretary-Treasurer Margaret James, Co-President Holmes Eleazer, and Vice President David Purnell head debates.

Amateur Radio Club monitors space satellite

The Amateur Radio Club, one of the newest and most energetic clubs on campus, provides some medium wherein students interested in any phase of electronics can gain experience and enjoyment of their hobby. A code and phone station, WA4FPD, is maintained by this organization; properly licensed members operate the station and talk to other amateurs all over the country.

During 1962, the club participated in project OSCAR, monitoring the first civilian-built satelite to orbit the earth. Although relatively small in number, the members of this organization derive knowledge in such fields as Hi-Fi recordings, ham radio, and experimental electronics.

Tom Stenson, Don Grigg, and Carroll Walker, members of Amateur Radio Club, set up equipment for broadcasting over shortwave sets. Boys talk to other operators over entire country.



Mustang staff

The publication of an award-winning annual was a difficult and challenging task to face, and the yearbook staff and their advisor Mr. Browne began work in September in order to complete work by the deadline. Top awards were won by last year's annual from National School Yearbook Association, Columbia Scholastic Press Assocation, National Scholastic Press Association, and North Carolina Scholastic Press Association.

The major staff members of the annual were responsible for making all decisions concerning the Mustang. Major staff members Sally Pennigar, Editor; Charles Van Wagner, Business Manager; Jeff Mitchiner, Treasurer; Stella Alexander, Classes; Susan Stafford, Clubs; Bernadette Scott, Organizations; Kitty Kuester, Features; Tommy Spencer, Sports; and Morris McEwen, Photography, made decisions concerning the type of print to be used, the design of the cover, and the theme. Other staff members assisted section editors and helped where possible. The major staff for the 1964 annual was chosen from the juniors of this year's staff.

endeavors to produce award-winning annual

This year, the Mustang staff received recognition for the superior annuals that have been published in previous years. The Charlotte News printed a picture article concerning the printing and publication of the Mustang.

One of the changes in the layout of the annual was the three-column page, a big change from the two-column spread design which the Mustang has had for the last three years. Through the new arrangement it was easier to vary layouts and to alternate picture sizes.

Budget for the publication of the yearbook was obtained through the sale of ads and sponsorships and profit from the sale of pictures and the individual sale of annuals. There was no special ad staff this year, but the efforts of the entire staff made it possible to reach the goal of $1500 set for ads and sponsorships.

Seniors received their copies of the 1963 Mustang at the Senior Banquet at the end of May. Underclassmen received their annuals the next school day.

’Spark staff

By publishing ten issues of the MyerSpark this year, the ’Spark staff enabled students to be aware of the activities at Myers Park and of the achievements of individual students. The ’Spark sponsored the annual election of a L’il Abner and Daisey Mae for the Sadie Hawkins Dance in April. Monetary votes were counted for each candidate and the proceeds placed in the ’Spark treasury. The ’Spark also was responsible for the election of a King and Queen of Hearts for the February Valentine’s Day Dance. One of the largest issues of the ’Spark came out before the Christmas holidays. Money was raised for the extra-large edition from ads bought by clubs, homerooms, and organizations in the school.

Assistant Business Manager Ann Robey and Business Managers Sue Whitley and Suzie Pharr plan the ad section for a ’Spark edition. They planned all ad layouts as well as being responsible for ad sales.

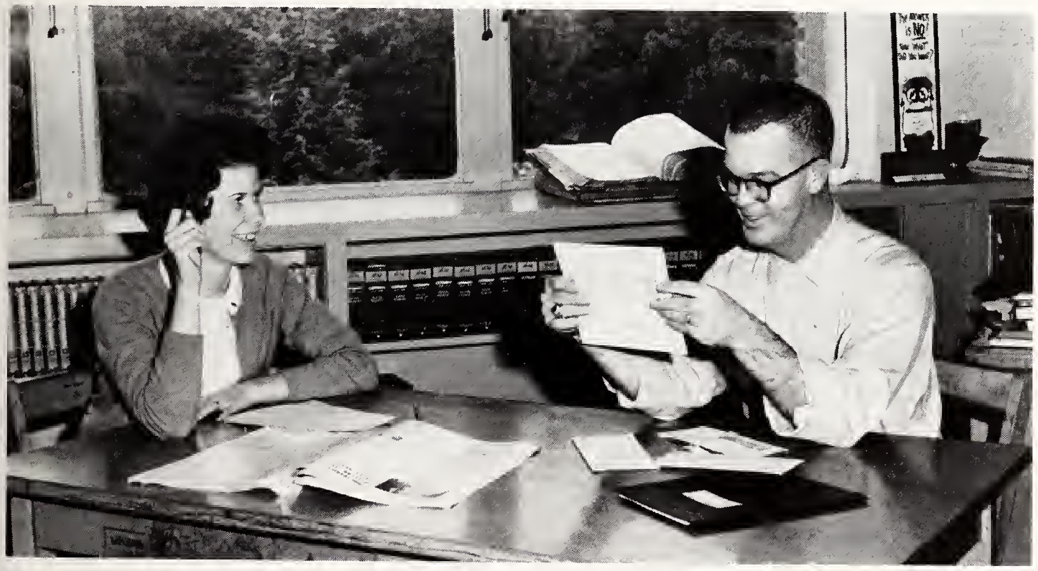
develops journalistic abilities

The editorial set-up on the MyerSpark staff differed this year from previous years. In former years, there were two editors; however, this year there was a single Editor-in-Chief who was responsible for all the work done by the staff. Other editors were the Business Managers, Features Editor, and Sports Editor. Three new positions were created: Managing Editor, who arranged the layout of the paper; Copy Editor, who proofread copy; and Assistant Business Manager, who assisted the Business Manager. Ten reporters completed the staff. Their job was to report pertinent news stories, write interesting feature articles, and sell ads.

Regular columns in the newspaper were Spark Plugs written by Ellen Martin, Student of the Issue feature, and Sidelines by Caroline Elliot. Candid news concerning different students was related in Spark Plugs and Sidelines. Outstanding Seniors were honored by being selected as Student of the Issue. The sports section kept students aware of team and individual standings in all sports at Myers Park.

Through a course in Journalism, sophomores and juniors received training for placement on the newspaper staff. Journalism taught the principles of editing and publishing a high school newspaper.

Proofreaders Diana Cook and Carol Presley check spelling and punctuation in a news story.



Editor-in-Chief Barbara Dowd and Mr. Sizer, the newspaper advisor, discuss the 'Spark's recent mail. The editor is responsible for the arrangement of the paper and for writing most editorials.

Reviewing back issues of the newspaper for unusual ideas, Managing Editor Sally Ervin and Features Editor Caroline Elliot compare editions. The position of Managing Editor was created this year.

French Club

Through their various clubs the Spanish, French, and Latin students at Myers Park get vivid ideas about ancient Rome and the numerous French- and Spanish-speaking countries. These clubs are designed to complement the students' classroom studies.

Jean Paul Loevenbruck, an exchange student from France, was the first speaker for the French Club. Adopting a French orphan headed the club's program this year.

Latin students had an active year, which began in early fall with the announcement that their scrapbook of Latin Week activities won first place in a state-wide contest. The November meeting had a Thanksgiving atmosphere with the discussion of Roman harvest festivals. Saturnalia, a pagan celebration later replaced by Christmas, was the theme of the December meeting. With spring came the annual trip to the Latin convention in Chapel Hill and celebration of Latin Week.

Operation Amigo topped the program of the Spanish Club for 1963. Sponsored by The Charlotte Observer, Operation Amigo provided Myers Park students with the opportunity of having Peruvian students live in their homes for two weeks. While attending school with their hosts, the Amigos fascinated Mustangs with their Peruvian ideas and fluent Spanish. At the Christmas party, Spanish folk songs, Christmas carols and refreshments highlighted the evening of entertainment.

As a branch of the YWCA, the Y-teen youth groups have led sophomore, junior, and senior girls at Myers Park into many worthwhile tasks. Collecting for the March of Dimes, all three Y-teen clubs did an excellent job of serving their fellow man. The club presidents put forth much work in organizing and collecting for this drive.

In October, the Senior Y-teen Club had an interesting speaker who spoke about a career in nursing. With the help of Mrs. Smith as advisor, the senior girls obtained the name of a needy family from the welfare department and gathered clothing and food in order to bring Christmas to this less fortunate family.

Junior Y-teeners, aided by Mrs. Elliot, also brought Christmas cheer to a needy family. Powell Huitt, a student at East Mecklenburg, talked to the club about his trip abroad as an exchange student on the city-to-city exchange program.

In their first year at Myers Park the Sophomore Y-teens, with Mrs. White as their advisor, made posters to publicize the barbecue at the school.

Clubs especially active on the Myers Park campus this year are the Junior and Senior Hi-Y's. As in the past, the spirit of the school has been stimulated by their leadership.

On the Myers Park campus, the Junior Hi-Y has set an example of school spirit. Early to rise on the morning of the October barbecue, this energetic group spent the day serving plate dinners to customers. However, the most memorable project of this club was perhaps the revival of battering the old jalopy. Everyone's tension during exam week was thus relieved by "Hacking the Hudson."

With every bit of traditional enthusiasm, the Senior Hi-Y has led Myers Park during 1962-63. Many times on the afternoon preceding a big game day, this active group arrayed the Math Building with green and white. During Christmas the boys also found plenty of time to help a needy family see the old year through in comfort. Showing the academy award-winning film "From Here to Eternity" was this club's major event.

Striving to aid girls in becoming better homemakers for tomorrow, the Future Homemakers of America club at Myers Park offers many good ideas through programs for this purpose.

Before Christmas, a meeting was held at the Piedmont Natural Gas Company where their home demonstrator gave many helpful hints on fixing Christmas decorations. At the February meeting, Mrs. Dorothy Ridings, the fashion editor at the Observer, spoke to the club on the coming spring fashions.

As a main event of the year, Myers Park was host to the Mecklenburg County Future Homemakers of America rally held in our auditorium on February 28. The theme, "When You Educate a Woman," was emphasized through the speeches given during the program.

DE Club members pursue job opportunities

The Distributive Education Club, which incorporates job opportunities with academic study, was led this year by President Francis Snyder and advised by Mrs. Burgess. In order to prepare themselves for their respective roles in the business world, the members enrolled in either DE I or DE II. In DE I, job application, advertising, and salesmanship were studied; while in DE II, the topics for discussion were economics, business psychology, business insurance, business law, and public speaking. In addition to preparing displays for the Student Center showcases, the club engaged in several service projects. During the Christmas season, the club sponsored a needy family and held a Christmas party for the children of the family. With the other Distributive Education clubs in Mecklenburg County, the club set up a local scholarship fund in cooperation with the national Distributive Education scholarship fund. The club's Spring project enabled students to become more aware of Myers Park's spring athletic teams.

Girls in FTA aid teachers in classroom

Girls who desire to make a career of teaching join the Future Teachers of America Club. Faculty members find the girls most helpful in grading papers and giving tests. Some members of the club help as library and office assistants; others teach Sunday school and kindergarten. At the state-wide and county-wide meetings club members campaign wholeheartedly for their candidates for state offices. Toni Honey served as president of the county FTA along with recording-secretary Alice Ann Kimel. Thus, through their activities, these girls have served their school, county, and state, as well as themselves.

Officers of FTA are Peggy Palmer, secretary; Jackie Stroupe, v. pres.; and Anne Ward, pres.

Engineer clubs form city unit

Boys interested in engineering find an outlet to further their interests in the Engineer's Club. In room P7 a library which houses college catalogues of outstanding engineering colleges in the country has been established.

The club, under the direction of President Chic Myers, organized the Inter-City Engineer's Club which is composed of five Charlotte high schools, South, East, West, Garinger, and Myers Park. These schools joined together for the purpose of improving the program in order to entice talented students into engineering careers. A joint meeting of all the clubs and members was held, and speeches were made by outstanding engineers and scientists. At these meetings, speakers from General Electric Missile Department, the government Missile Department, and the government Nuclear Sub Department presented facts about engineering in their fields.

Interesting field trips were made to NC State College and Georgia Tech. There they toured the laboratories. One of the many trips the club made to industries to observe how engineers apply their knowledge was to the Nuclear Reactor in Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Upperclassmen produce Arsenic and Old Lace

This year, the Limelighters Club actively participated in drama productions held in the new auditorium. The Limelighters directed the Talent Show at the beginning of the first semester and produced and directed the hilarious Junior-Senior play, Arsenic and Old Lace. The Talent Show played a large part in the entertainment of the Student Council Convention.

Ten of the more experienced members of Limelighters this year procured a charter for membership in the Thespian Society, a national society for young actors and actresses. Membership in this society is based upon service, participation, and a sincere interest in dramatics. Several Limelighters, having achieved a minimum number of points based upon service to the club, were initiated into the Thespian Society during the second semester. For their project of the year the Thespians produced one of the one-act plays given in the Spring.

Limelighter rehearsals for the annual three one-act plays began in February. The three plays undertaken were "Wedded But No Wife," "The Long Silence," and "The Summons of Sariel."

In the Spring, the district festival for the production of one-act plays was held at Myers Park. This festival provided the actors and actresses in the one-acts the chance to be criticized by judges and to become more aware of the opportunities in dramatics available to them. Those plays which received a superior rating at the district festival entered competition in the state festival at the University of North Carolina and Winthrop College.

The year's work was climaxed at the school award's assembly, when top actors and actresses received recognition for the work they had done.

Choir madrigals win awards

In September, the chorus and A Cappella Choir opened their series of performances in an assembly presenting Myers Park's new auditorium to the students. This year many students elected to take chorus, and the choir was the largest Myers Park has ever had. Also during the Fall, the chorus sang for the North Carolina State Student Council Congress held at Myers Park. Portions of Handel's Messiah were presented for the annual Christmas assembly. During the holiday season, the choir, braving bitterly cold weather, sang Christmas carols at the Park Road Shopping Center and at the S & W Cafeteria.

A boys' ensemble, newly formed this year, performed in Charlotte-area churches and at the convention in Durham, North Carolina. Two madrigals, each composed of eight singers in a mixed chorus, entered competition at Mars Hill, North Carolina. In the Spring, the chorus joined the orchestra in the presentation of the Broadway musical, Oklahoma! A musical interpretation of the Easter message, The Seven Last Words, was presented in assembly, at which time several solo parts were performed. The choir and chorus concluded a productive year by providing music for the commencement services.

Orchestra hosts All-Staters

New facilities in Myers Park's auditorium provided further opportunities for the orchestra. Two school assemblies were held: one, the annual Christmas production of Handel's Messiah; the other, a program of popular classical works. Another Christmas program combined the talents of the orchestra and choir in a rendition of traditional Christmas music for parents as well as for students.

The All-State Orchestra convened at Myers Park in the latter part of January. Outstanding musicians from North Carolina joined together to produce an afternoon of music which was open to the public. Eight members of Myers Park's orchestra participated in this orchestra. The Workshop Orchestra provided an opportunity for eight other members of the Myers Park Orchestra to further themselves musically.

The Charlotte Symphony provided two orchestra members, Ken Avent and David Hoag, the opportunity and honor of performing in the Charlotte Symphony Orchestra. They played in various programs produced in Ovens Auditorium. Several scholarships were offered to the more talented orchestra members for study in various summer music camps throughout the Southeast.

New uniforms enhance band;

Attractive new uniforms, purchased through donations and proceeds from the sale of candy, enhanced the appearance of Myers Park's band. On February 11, the concert band, joined by junior high students, performed in the auditorium. Finale from "The New World Symphony," "His Honor," "Overture Zampa," selections from The Sound of Music, and "Rhapsody in Blue" with Betsy Strawn as piano soloist were performed.

Many formations were devised for half-time activities during the football season, with themes drawn from popular songs and special interests of the band members. The marching band played an integral part in encouraging school spirit at football games in addition to participation in several parades during the year, including the Carousel parade, the Veteran's Day parade, and the Shrine Bowl parade.

The band and lettergirls, spelling out "MP" during half-time ceremonies of the Myers Park-Gastonia football game, entertain the crowd and display their ability of making intricate formations.

Concert band holds program

In the Spring, the band participated in a contest involving bands from western North Carolina schools. The contest was held on March 20, in Hickory, North Carolina. Bands played in groups rated from grades one through six. This year, Myers Park's band was placed in grade five. A concert program was presented near the close of the school year. Band members played both classical and modern music selections.

The five majorettes had new fire-a-ton uniforms this year. The majorettes performed with the band during half-time activities at football games and marched in parades in which the band participated. Two "Millie Mustangs" personified the Mustang spirit at football games and pep rallies. Spelling out "Myers Park" on their respective sweaters, the lettergirls marched during half-time activities and in parades.

Cheerleaders, Mustang Club,

Head cheerleader Jan Rouzer unified the efforts of the cheerleaders in backing Mustang teams.

By cheering the Mustangs to victorious seasons in football and basketball, the nine cheerleaders encouraged school spirit and unity. They organized pep rallies in the gym and stadium before important games. Their enthusiasm was shown at the rainy Garinger game where their spirit was not dampened. They led the cheers of the remaining spectators after the game was resumed. To show their appreciation, the varsity football team at their awards banquet presented each cheerleader with a miniature silver megaphone.

The cheerleaders for the junior varsity football and basketall teams were chosen in the Fall. Through encouraging unity among the sophomore class, the junior varsity cheerleaders enabled the sophomores to establish themselves as a more integral part of the school.

One of the largest clubs in the school is the Mustang Club. Deviating from their customary procedure, the club selected members from all three classes this Fall: sophomores who had been voted into the club by their classmates, and juniors and seniors who had been voted in on a point-system basis.

The Mustang Club works to further school spirit. At football games the members sponsor a card section and sell programs at these games and at the basketball games. Often the clubbers decorated the halls in school colors. For the championship game in Greensboro the club provided signs to go on the sides of the buses. Along with basketball season came the annual student-faculty game. Through these efforts the clubbers help to carry out the purpose of their club: to increase the pep and enthusiasm of the school.

and Monogram Club speak out for more spirit

Lettermen at Myers Park work together as the Monogram Club to help their school. New members taken into the club each year must have both athletic ability and the willingness to give of their time and effort in the club's activities.

This alert group of boys found many ways of improving the MP campus. They clean trash from the grounds and plan to erect a permanent "Welcome" sign at the entrance to the school. Their selling booster cards spreads school spirit over the whole campus.

After football season, the boys, in preparation for track season, take down the stadium bleachers. Probably the club's most beneficial job is the regulation of traffic. The members register cars, direct traffic, issue citations, and conduct traffic court. At the annual North-South Red Cross meeting, the boys volunteered to park cars.

Myers Park's strongest attribute lies in its faculty. These teachers commit themselves to educing the imaginations of students and to prodding them to make their own decisions.

Under the supervision of Dr. Lewis and the other members of his administration, the school has produced fifteen National Merit scholarship finalists. Dr. A. Craig Phillips, new school superintendent, effected a more unified system of school management.

Without the continuing interest and patience of Dean of Girls Miss Gunter and counselors Miss Sifford and Mr. Feimster, students would not have the essential guidance in planning their future. Mr. Sheppard, in addition to being Dean of Boys, regulates the school store and snack bar, handles the state text book rental system, and is athletic coordinator. As assistant principal Mr. Powell aids students with the many problems confronting them throughout the year.

Returning to Myers Park, Miss Baker has initiated the senior classics course, which gives more students an opportunity for literary study. Other new teachers coming to Myers Park include Mr. Cross, Mrs. Harrell, Mrs. Brosius, Mrs. Elliott, Mr. Fulcher, Miss Rogers, Miss Woodruff, Mrs. Gravely, Mrs. White, Mr. Lee, Miss March, Mr. Jaynes, Mrs. Guerrant, and Miss Riviere. for summer

Many of our teachers, over thirty per cent to be exact, reversed their roles and became students this summer. Mr. Cloaninger and Miss March both earned Masters degrees. Of the fourteen others attending summer classes, five upheld the Myers Park tradition for scholarships by studying under grants either from the National Science Foundation or the PTA. Five remained close to home to receive instruction at U.N.C. while the others scattered in various directions. The farthest flung was Miss Riviere who traveled all the way to Scotland to study at Edinburgh University. Though not primarily for study purposes, Mrs. Macon and Miss Newland also spent the summer abroad — "absorbing culture" as Miss Newland phrased it. Other members of our faculty attended workshops and panels, four out of six in connection with foreign languages.

Outside activities keep our faculty busy during the school year as well as in the summer. Three serve on NCEA committees while five others work on ones at the city-county level. Mrs. Wright is president of the NCCA. Miss Whitley is a member of the Advisory Committee for Mathematics created under Title III of the National Defense Education Act.

Music, acting, and classics in fine arts

Adding diversification to basic subjects, the fine arts curriculum offered several new courses to Myers Park's students. Dramatics provided instruction in acting, public speaking, and in applying make-up for a stage production.

Senior classics, a new semester course, brought the study of outstanding world literature to seniors to help them more fully appreciate the beliefs and customs of their neighbors, past and present.

In music, two courses continued to aid in achieving a well-balanced education. Choir and orchestra developed potential talent through daily practice. These groups performed such classics as Handel's Messiah but also brought into their repertoire contemporary numbers.

Finally, in general art, the number of courses increased. Beginners learned new skills in painting and drawing while returning students became more adept.

In senior classics Andy Hensley gives an oral report with illustrations on Greek literature.

Acting out a scene of a play provides daily practice in the dramatics class. Ricky Dancy, Stan Hubbard, Merry Craig, and Cathey Miller perform in front of their classmates as an audience.

Mr. Mims directs the orchestra in their daily practice to develop students' musical ability.

Social, cultural program through language arts

In language arts, each student had an opportunity to study literature, foreign languages, history, and psychology. As a result, language arts became one of the richest programs at Myers Park. As English is required of every student, all studied American, British, as well as European literature.

Highlighted by the establishment of German, the foreign language department encompasses four languages. The language lab, in its fourth year, was supplemented by tape recordings. The audio-lingual approach to German particularly emphasized the value of these recordings. Fourth-year classes of French, Spanish, and Latin grew as plans were underway to continue second-year German classes.

After taking the required world and American history, many sought further knowledge in the social sciences. Psychology returned to Myers Park as a one-semester elective and students filled ten classes during the year. A new offering, world geography, made an intensive study of geography possible.

Applied arts develop abilities in varied fields

Various topics were undertaken within the applied arts curriculum this year. Whether academic subjects or electives, these courses taught students from practical application of skills.

New lab sessions provided students in chemistry and physics more time for exploration in their fields. Whether through distilling a substance or through testing light rays, these science students learned more about the composition of our earth and its surroundings.

In clothing, foods, and family living, students received invaluable training for their present and their future household. The classes in foods and clothing had lab sessions as well as lectures. Girls were able to learn such skills as basic sewing, smocking, and embroidering. College-bound girls found special hints and advice in planning a basic college ensemble. In the foods classes, the essential elements of our diet, meal planning, and budgeting in grocery shopping were significant topics discussed.

In another scope of applied arts, there are courses which also develop potential skills. Distributive Education students become more familiar with their future vocation by actually being employed during the school day. This practical experience has proved beneficial whether or not a college education is in the future.

Preparing for a commercial career after high school, students found numerous aids in the curriculum. Shorthand, typing, and general office practice provided excellent opportunities to acquire needed skills; dictaphones, computers, and other office equipment were available for the students to operate. Business law introduced ideas and terms with which a prospective businessman should be familiar.

By shelving books, by classifying books under the Dewey Decimal System, or by categorizing magazines, a library assistant also became more aware of how to use successfully the library's resources.

Following the President's program of physical fitness, Myers Park complied with other schools in instructing the students in physical fitness. A test, given periodically during the year, measured the abilities and proficiency of a person. Myers Park is one of the few high schools in the area which offers field hockey. Soccer, football, and softball were other outdoor sports played during the year.

During the year boys in the industrial arts class learned to manipulate hand tools, lathes, presses, planes, and sanders, in completing tables, cabinets, and bookcases.

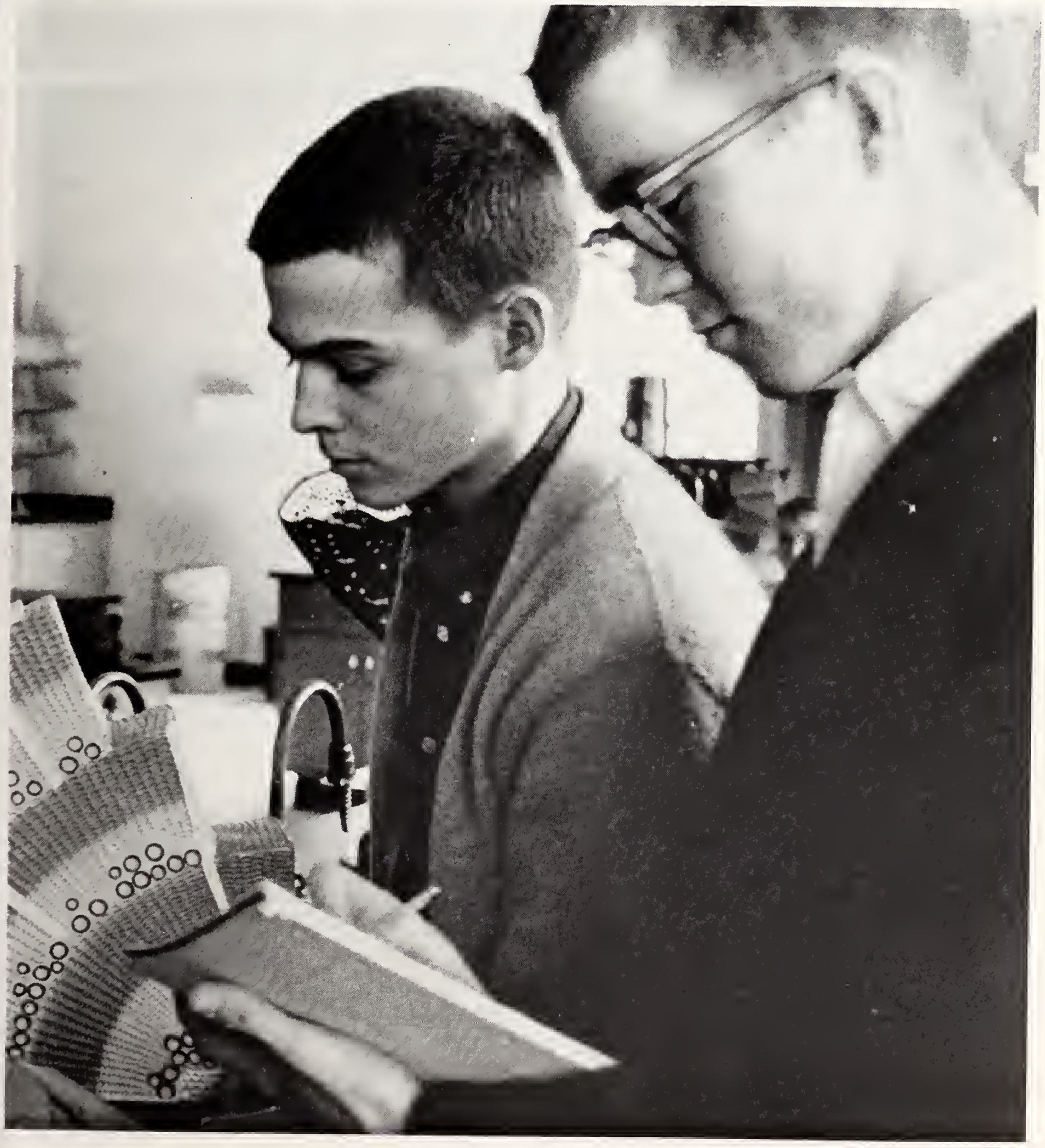
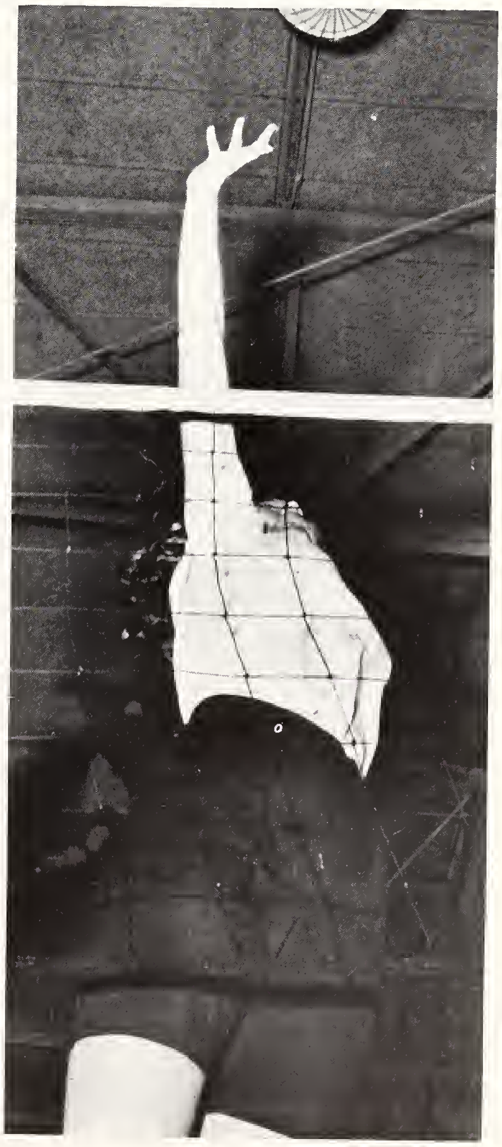
In preparation for a bookkeeping assignment, Diane Woodside assesses some record books.

Learning to grocery shop within a budget proves helpful to family living students Freda Rothell and Barbara Richardson. Practical experience gained from the course provides knowledge for a future home.

Botany, a new elective at Myers Park, makes an intensive study of the plant kingdom. In a lab session, Bob Cunningham and Van Smith compare a cross section of wood with a larger model.



Rosemary Hill reaches high to volley the ball over the net during play period in gym class.



Varied works of art, showing unusual talent, are produced in the advanced art class. Jimmy Cromartie completes an original painting for his semester examination. Charcoal and pastels are also used.

Mary Maffitt and Lucie Lea White prepare lab sheets from a slide in Biology II session.

Advanced courses offered to talented students

Following the belief of leading educators, Myers Park continued to have homogeneous grouping in the basic subjects and also in a few electives. Biology II gave students who made above average grades in first year biology and chemistry the opportunity of continued study. Math classes continued to have advanced courses under the School Mathematics Study Group. In addition, Analytic Geometry and Principles of Math was introduced as a full-year course.

In the junior year, students in English Honors studied Macbeth while Honors seniors read Hamlet. Moreover, sixteen qualified seniors were selected to participate in the Advanced Placement English program. In the field of foreign language, Latin offered an advanced third and fourth year to interested students. In these advanced classes, such Roman classic writers as Cicero and Virgil were taught.

Advanced art gave particularly talented students additional practice in this area. These students made exceptional use of pastels, charcoal, watercolors, and oils in creating their works.

Sophomores, contributing new spirit, enter MP

Enthusiasm was the key word of the sophomore class this year. The class, the largest one ever to enter Myers Park, blithely tripped through orientation, adapted to a new schedule, joined clubs and committees, elected class officers at the semester, learned the Alma Mater, and chose the junior varsity cheerleaders. Attendance by the sophomores at games, dances, concerts, and other school-sponsored functions spurs the upper classmen into action, lest the sophomores surpass them. The required courses of biology, world history, English, and physical education helped to round out the well-planned schedule of the sophomores. Experiencing two-hour examinations for the first time, the sophomores learned to place their studies in a position of primary importance.

Drawn from three junior high schools, the sophomore class united in spirit, became an important part of the student body of Myers Park, quickly lost the identities of the individual junior high school, and assumed the oneness of Myers Park. Up and coming, the ambitious sophomores strive towards the goal of making Myers Park an even better school.

Cliff Counts displays his class enthusiasm by dropping an idea in the suggestion box.

Sophomores

Sophomores Chip Moon and Ellen Law begin their three years of scholastic and social endeavor at Myers Park. Confronting them are books of the tenth-grade curriculum prefacing future studies.

In the sophomore year, groundwork for a student's high school academic future is laid. The tenth grade marks the beginning of study in new and broader subjects.

Certain courses are required in preparation for graduation. In the English classes sophomores study the mechanics of grammar and various types of literature. Biology is required; advanced students may continue their study in chemistry and physics courses. Algebra I and II are prerequisites for study in higher mathematics. It is recommended that students take world history in the tenth grade. Foreign language courses are offered to sophomores in French, Latin, Spanish, and German.

Most students take physical education in the sophomore year. Having a full schedule, a tenth grader does not have time for many electives but is mainly concerned with adapting to the high school curriculum.

Sophomores

Industrious sophomores Jan Kimball, Jan Wilkinson, and Claudette Harloe remain at school to help put up decorations in cafeteria for the Homecoming Dance after a victorious football game.

Sophomores face many new and challenging problems as they enter high school. Among these is the problem of finding time for the many extra-curricular activities which are offered to them. Outside activities make it easy for sophomores to become more a part of the school by their participation.

To become more familiar with the subjects they take, students are able to join clubs pertaining to their academic courses. These include the Latin, French, Spanish, and Great Books clubs. In order to become better acquainted with their fellow classmates, students engage regularly in serving on numerous committees.

Outstanding sophomores are able to join the Key Club, the Monogram Club, the Girl Ambassadors Club, and the Mustang Club. It is through the activities of the sophomores that the leaders of the years to come are developed.

Juniors return to confront a challenging year

1963 junior class officers, who guide their class in numerous activities, are Stephen Annas, Vice President; Joe Chaplin, President; Nancy Lineberger, Secretary; and John Bristow, Treasurer.

Returning with a sense of belonging and personal concern for Myers Park, the junior class began a meaningful and critical year. Only two prerequisites, American history and English, allowed juniors leeway for a more specialized program. Advanced courses not offered in previous years effected a challenge that enveloped the desire of many juniors to pursue their particular interests.

Juniors gained experience for College Boards in March and May through the PSAT tests in October. In March the National Honor Society inducted the top five per cent of the junior class. The American Field Service finalists are the proud representatives of the junior class to other nations of the world. The honorary highlight of the year for the junior class is the position of Junior Marshal.

Confronting the need of balancing school with outside activities, juniors learned to use the many experiences of their junior year to the best advantage. Through their united efforts juniors were better able to assume their roles as seniors.

Ricky Tatum points out to his American history class the ravages resulting from the Civil War.

Juniors take

Tests play an important part in the junior year. Some of these are the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude, National Merit, and the Scholastic Aptitude and achievement tests which make up College Boards. All juniors are given the opportunity of taking the PSAT in the fall, giving the student some idea of what to expect on College Boards.

Juniors with good academic records may qualify for a scholarship through the National Merit Foundation by taking the National Merit Test given in March. The amount of the scholarship awarded depends upon the financial need of the student.

No tests given during the junior year are more important to the students than the College Board Examinations. The scores made on these tests are one of the deciding factors as to whether a student is accepted into the college of his choice. These may be taken in March and May if the student wishes to apply for "early decision."

Committee chairmen for the Junior-Senior are S. Chaplin, S. Alexander, refreshments; Snook, Teat, decorations; J. Chaplin, President; J. Alexander, invitations; and McClung, Connor, entertainment.

Junior-Senior

This year, as in the past, the juniors sponsored a Junior-Senior prom. As the major project of the year it served as a unifying element for the class. To see that things ran smoothly, volunteers signed up to work with this year's committees and chairmen: Decorations: Ann Teat, Gary Snook; Entertainment: Chris Connor, Elise McClung; Invitations: Judith Alexander, Emily Walker; and Refreshments: Sara Alexander, Saxby Chaplin. The theme remained a secret until the last possible minute; this same secrecy surrounded the band selected. The budget, based on profits from Arsenic and Old Lace and the sale of invitations, financed elaborate decorations as the junior class tried to prove itself the "best ever."

This one formal affair of the year, which sometimes precedes a round of parties 'til dawn, was a last fling for the seniors before graduation. For the juniors it was a first taste of senior privileges; next year Junior-Senior will be for them.

Seniors cherish memories of last year at MP

1963 senior class officers, who were chosen after numerous homeroom balloting, are Bobby Boyd, Treasurer; Mike Jones, Secretary; Bill Bolen, Vice President; and Raleigh Shoemaker, President.

As the senior class brings to a close the memories collected throughout the previous three years, it recalls most vividly the last — the senior year. In nine short months, which served as a bridge between the experiences of the past and the hopes of the future, many emotions have flooded through every senior's heart. There are memories of hard work as each person strove to excel and make the senior year the best, memories of disappointments, tears, anxiety, laughter and many dreams. Seniors became caught in the whirl of this all important year by enjoying privileges, taking college boards, ordering announcements, being measured for caps and gowns, dancing at their Junior-Senior, and cramming for those inevitable final exams.

It has been a successful year, one of dreaming and planning — truly a year of learning and discovering. The seniors have learned more about themselves and are beginning to explore the new worlds before them. As they venture on separate paths, as they meet new challenges, each member of the class of '63 will have these lasting memories to hold forever in his heart.

In the student lounge Mrs. Speir measures Bill McClintock's height for his graduation robe.

Library night, a new senior privilege sponsored by the Public Relations Committee, is held periodically during the school year to allow seniors to use available library facilities.

STUDENT LIFE

All share in frustrations, opportunities at MP

After school, sophomores Pat Jones and Sandra Hoffmeyer make friends in the student lounge.

Members of the sophomore, junior, and senior classes have various interests and activities which include school work, sports, and other social events.

Students must apply themselves to diligent study in order to meet the challenges of academic work. Myers Park follows the two-hour examination schedule, a grueling yet rewarding experience for juniors and seniors as well as sophomores. In addition to the stiff testing arrangements, many teachers require students to write term papers. Preparation of research papers involves much study, analysis, and thorough organization. Juniors and seniors must not only exert effort in school studies, but also they must prepare themselves for competitive examinations on state and national levels. Juniors take college boards in the spring and some take the test for the second time in December of their senior year. After completion of Scholastic Aptitude Tests and various achievement tests, a senior is faced with the problem of selecting the college he wishes to attend. To aid the students in making wise decisions, colleges send representatives to talk with possible applicants. This year a number of women's colleges sponsored a meeting for the girls. Once the problem of choosing a college is solved, applicants nervously await decisions, since only a few are lucky enough to be selected as candidates for early admission at the college of their choice.

There are endless opportunities for having fun through the school year. The excitement of a fast-paced basketball game cannot be matched. This year the gymnasium lobby was enlarged and enclosed. The room now contains a concession stand whose workers are kept busy by thirsty Mustang cheerers. Some basketball games hold the added spice of an open house afterward. Myers Park students were guests at two such dances this year, one at Garinger and another at East Mecklenburg.

Even during a school day there are opportunities for relaxation and enjoyment. An eight-period day allows for a long lunch hour for every student. A juke box has been installed in the cafeteria in the hope that more students can enjoy a release from class tensions. Although the student lounge is reserved for seniors during lunches, it is open to all classes before and after school. It serves as an excellent place for students of all classes to mingle.

Bobby Dunn, Mr. Kiser, and John Smith manage the concession stand. Sandy Heacock, cheerleader Sara Alexander, Pete Gaskell, and other Mustang cheerers enjoy refreshments during exciting games.

Typed term papers are required by many Myers Park teachers. Debby Kelleher, Richard McHenry, and Jeff Mitchiner work after school revising and completing their assignments.

Lunch periods are brightened for Bill Jeffries and Jan Query by a juke box in the cafeteria.

Anne Ward and her mother review information booklet about college selection.

Although rain fell at the Garinger-Myers Park game, the students, many in wet clothing, demonstrated their school spirit by returning and supporting their team to victory.

Honors go to leading students

Inga Nakling is the Carousel Princess for M.P.

Students who have distinguished themselves in the fields of service, leadership, and personality are recognized as outstanding members of the student body. Recipients of some awards are honored by interested local organizations; other students, by vote of their classmates. In either case, those students who have contributed most to the betterment of Myers Park are commended for their effort. Every student has shown interest in our school in and outside the classroom.

Lovely Inga Nakling, exchange student from Norway, represented Myers Park in Charlotte's annual Thanksgiving Day Parade. Inga is the only foreign student ever selected as Carousel Princess for the traditional event. Riding on the float of the king and queen, Inga provided an excellent example of the qualities a Carousel Princess should have; her beauty and warmth of personality made her the ideal choice.

Myers Park's seven Junior Rotarians are Front row: Bobby Boyd, George Elliott, Stuart McKaig, Raleigh Shoemaker. Second row: Lane Anderson, Bill Weldon, and Norman Pease.

Miss Hi-Miss selections were precedent setting, also. For the first time The Johnsonian, Winthrop College student newspaper, sponsored two charming girls, a senior and a junior Miss Hi-Miss. Jean Miller, friendly and vivacious, was chosen senior Miss Hi-Miss by the members of her class. Junior Miss Hi-Miss title went to busy Nancy Lineberger. These outstanding girls were elected for character, scholarship, leadership, and personality.

Senior class members honored Jean Miller and Stuart McKaig by electing them Mr. and Miss Myers Park. Jean and Stuart are energetic students and popular members of the senior class; this honor is the culmination of their continual efforts to serve Myers Park. Other outstanding seniors have accepted responsibilities in connection with graduation by serving as senior class committee chairmen. Those students are planning and coordinating the graduation activities. Their willingness to serve during the years at M.P. is the commendable quality which led to their selection for the important jobs.

Each year the Charlotte Rotary Clubs extend invitations to attend a series of luncheon meetings. This year eight boys had the opportunity to attend and talk with local businessmen. These boys are elected by the student council for such qualities as scholarship, leadership, character, and ambition.

Typifying the students of our school, Stuart McKaig and Jean Miller were chosen Mr. and Miss Myers Park because of their qualities of character, leadership, and dependability to their classmates.

Homecoming is a busy event for Myers Park. From the game with Asheville to the dance featuring the Embers, students enjoyed activities climaxed with the crowning of the Homecoming Queen.

Festive dances provide merriment as students

Members of the Homecoming Court. Sitting: Jill Stewart, Queen Janet Cochrane, Roberta Frost. Standing: Nancy Lineberger, and Carolyn Britt.

Myers Park's traditional Homecoming Dance was held this year after our victory over Asheville. Caricatures of the football players provided an unusual feature for the decorations. Tombstones of each team that fell to the Mustangs and cut-out pictures of the cheerleaders with comic captions were other humorous innovations of the Dance Committee. Music by the Embers produced an atmosphere of gaiety for everyone at the first dance of the year. Official crowning of the Homecoming Court was the highlight of the evening. Queen Janet Cochrane, senior attendants Jill Stewart and Roberta Frost, junior attendant Nancy Lineberger, and sophomore attendant Carolyn Britt comprised a charming royal court.

"Merry 'till Midnight," replacing an actual Christmas dance, was held early in December with a wintry snow scene as the theme for the decorations. The skillfully decorated cafeteria and music of the Rivieras insured merriment which lasted right up to the witching hour. Without any snow students had only these decorations for a white Christmas.

For the first time in three years, students were able to attend a Valentine Dance. All three classes welcomed the chance to end post-exam doldrums. With traditional arrows flying, the slow music of Bill McIntire's combo was right on target. The color scheme was red and white; the decorations theme was dainty hearts and friendly Cupids. Two such nymphs welcomed students and beckoned timid dancers to a land of lovely lace. The most prominent decoration was the heart-shaped throne for the King and Queen of Hearts. Crowning of the king and queen and presentation of the Valentine Court was the most exciting moment of the evening. Jill Stewart and Smitty Flynn were crowned King and Queen of Hearts by Mr. Feimster. The attendants were Carol Hart and Jack Hearne, representing the junior classes, Polly Burns and Rick Arrington, representing the sophomore class.

Mustangs' 1963, golden year for Myers Park

Speaking little English, a group of Peruvian students visited the United States and stayed in Charlotte for two weeks. At our auditorium the visitors were assigned homes among eager students.

This year has been a golden one for Myers Park. In sports, spirit, academics and citizenship, the Mustangs have finished in the winner's circle.

Successful athletic teams have compiled a splendid record for '63; Mustangs blazed a trail across the state in football, swimming, cross country, wrestling, and basketball. Spirit reached a peak early in the football season and continued on a high plane, supported by the enthusiasm of anxious fans. Not lacking in academic achievement, Myers Park had two Morehead Scholarship winners and fifteen National Merit finalists in addition to other scholarship recipients.

Student participation was far-reaching in many fields. In the fall Myers Park was host to the North Carolina Student Council Congress. Also in the fall, a group of Amigos, Peruvian students, spent two weeks at Myers Park. Over half the student body has voluntarily joined the new Honor Corps. Myers Park can remember 1963 as the "golden year" in student spirit, sports, academics, and above all citizenship.

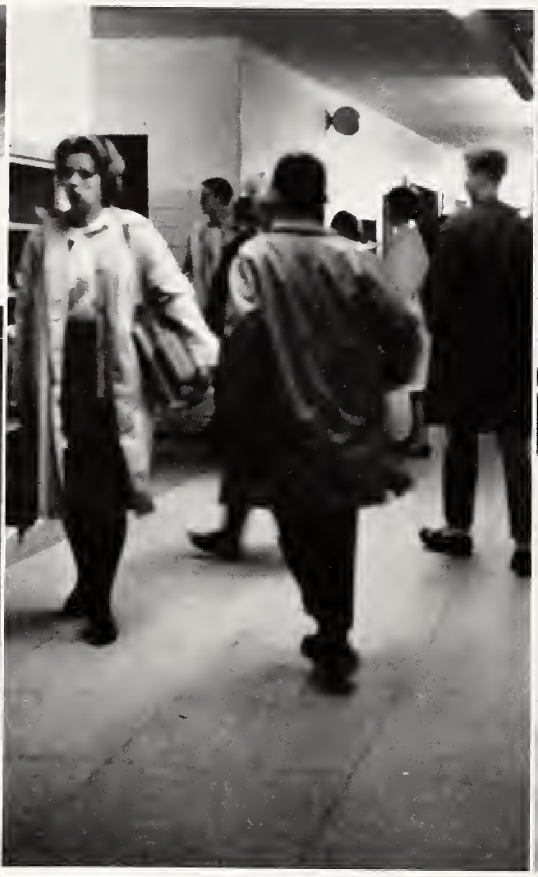
Western 4-A Conference champions in football, the mighty Mustangs went to the state play-offs for the first time in five years. The swimming team again remained undefeated in dual competition.

MUSTANG MEAT IS TOO TOUGH TO EAT!

Height of school spirit was attained this year not only in football, but also in all things that Myers Park participated. Students gave their full support to school related activities.

Mustang grapplers overcame all teams in Western 4-A competition obtaining the Conference Championship. A spectacular basketball team highlighted the year with another conference championship.

Halls are scenes of early morning gatherings of students talking before class begins.



Changes in the weather and in the seasons can be seen through the traffic in the halls.

Students work in the halls after school in order to decorate for games or make posters.

The Overview: A year of purpose fulfilled

Tommy Clinard signs the membership book after induction to the Honor Corps by Lane Anderson.

Although the days, weeks, and months of the school year are past and the time is gone, each student has memories never to be forgotten. Frustrations, accomplishments, defeats, and triumphs in retrospect are precious possessions to be treasured.

In exchange for the part of himself that each student leaves in high school, each takes with him a large part of what is really Myers Park. Some of what a student takes is carried in his head, but much more is locked in his heart. Just as a student could not avoid the academic stimulus, so he can not forget the satisfaction of club activities, the mounting enthusiasm for special sports events, or the frivolity of parties and dances. School work and sports give students a purpose to fulfill; clubs and parties give recreation and release which they deserve. The benefits derived from these activities will never be totaled; the result is the future, the next endeavor, the next goal. Friends and friendships will never be forgotten; ties have been established which can never be broken.

There are countless ways to treasure these remembrances of Myers Park's golden year.

Events at Myers Park and the spirit of '63 are echoed through the hallways of every campus building. Halls not only connect classrooms, but also they appear to join students to their school. Through these passages circulate the ideas and emotions of the students who travel them daily. Students themselves fill the halls with a vitality which lingers and voices that ring, even when the buildings are dark, empty, and silent. Friendships are made, laughter echoes, and news is spread in the corridors of Myers Park. Halls reflect not only the bustle of student participation, but also such commonplace occurrences as a change in the weather. Rainy weather permeates the campus passageways, dampening floors but not spirits. Colorful posters on the hall bulletin boards tell of all the activities to be expected and supply much information. Hall decorations can reveal school spirit and enthusiastic anticipation of events to come.

Some students will walk these familiar paths again; others who walked into a building last fall are walking out to a way of life this spring. The pulse of Myers Park throbs in her halls, and each count represents some facet of student life.

During the five minute class changes, jostling crowds move in and out of the buildings, from class to class. Students fill the corridors with their problems, gaiety, and activities.

With their last good-bye, students leave the halls of M.P. for the new passageways of life.

Graduation is over and the rush of grades and applications is finished. Looking back, a student remembers the many hours spent in school and realizes the value that his endeavors will bring.

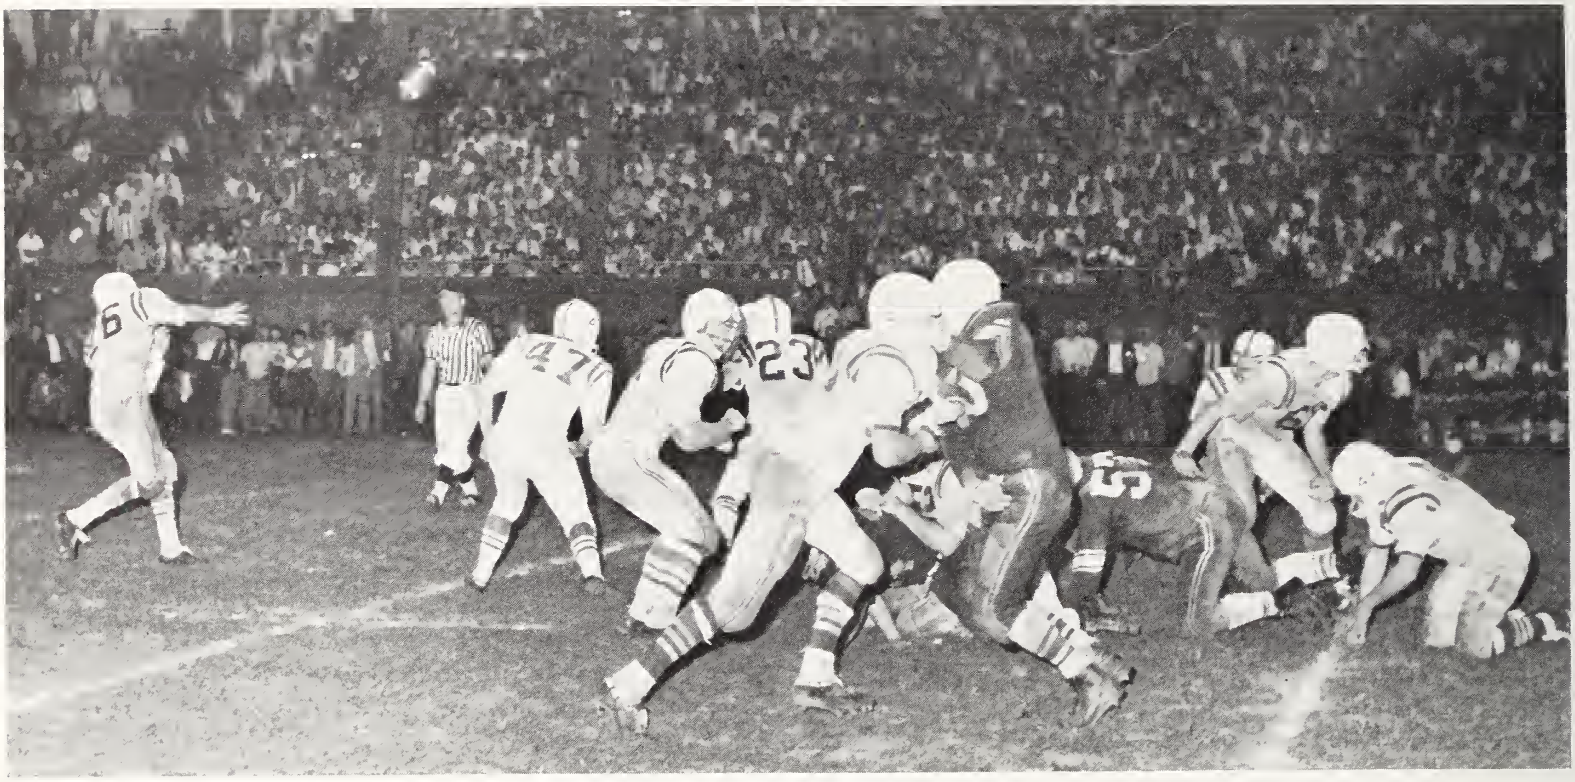
ATHLETICS



Beaver (26) heads the passing attack with a wall of protection by Moon (47), Campbell (61), Sanford (23), Elliott (33), Cornelius (52), Lauppe (43), Bolen (63), and Kimball (49), beating Gastonia 27-21.

Mustang's aerial-minded offense wins Western

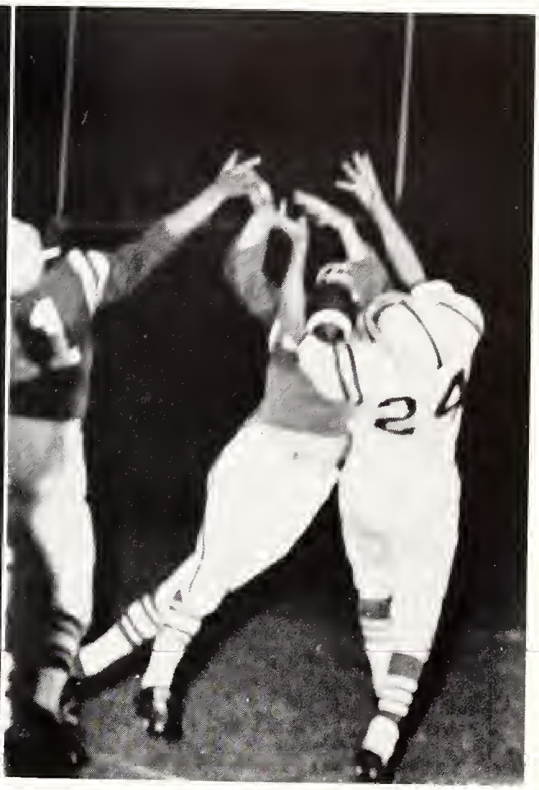
Like eleven shooting stars, the Mustangs began the onslaught of victories, running through and passing over Albemarle. Thus, primed for the crucifixion of traditional rival Garinger, sustained by a defensive stand holding the Cats to minus eight yards in the first quarter, and regenerated by a twenty minute delay from a deluge of rain late in the second quarter, the team scored on the first play from scrimmage with a spectacular run by Don Sanford who leaped four feet over a would-be tackler and ran thirty-nine yards to pay dirt, sealing Garinger's first defeat at the hands of Myers Park. At Salisbury, the team was halted three times within their twenty before a punt, blocked by Greg McClure and recovered by Hugh Martin on the one, turned the tide as fullback Herb Goins plunged across for the score. Against South Mecklenburg Jeff Beaver hurled four touchdown passes; moreover, 220-pound center John Cornelius, intercepting a stray Sabre pass, rumbled sixty yards to the opponent's twenty. Despite a slow start, the Mustangs defeated Asheville with two touchdown passes.

Hawthorne (55), averaging 39.7 yards per kick for the season, punts the Mustangs out of trouble.

Our stalwart defense forms a wall as Brinkley (36) and Cornelius (52) fire through to help Phillips (24) and Kiser (21) make the tackle as Richey (51) and Tinsley (42) come up from the secondary.

End George Elliott (33) ensnares one of twenty-eight passes he caught throughout the season.

Flanker Mike Stevenson (27) seizes another touchdown pass, scoring on twelve for the year.



Halfback Bud Phillips (24), grabbing a total of thirty passes for the year, goes up for a long one.

4-A Conference Championship

Plagued by mistakes and penalties, Myers Park trailed Gastonia with five minutes left to play, when the Green Waves intercepted a pass; but the defense made them punt. With 1:15 remaining, Beaver threw successfully to Phillips, Stevenson, and Elliott, and handed off to fullback Goins on a draw play. Then one last looping touchdown pass to Mike Stevenson grounded Gastonia.

After a disappointing 13-13 tie with Harding the Mustang magicians baffled East Mecklenburg by scoring early in the game, then converting an onsides kick into the decisive touchdown. At Rocky Mount the team lost in the closing minutes as a receiver slipped on the sandy soil causing a would-be perfect pass to be intercepted; moreover, center John Cornelius was lost to a knee injury.

Special touchdown duo, Beaver and Stevenson talk on sidelines before going into the game.

Hardnosed halfback Don Sanford (23) makes a quick dash around left end with interference by fullback Herb Goins (37) as the Mustangs smash Gastonia (27-21) with a running as well as passing offense.

Phillips (24) holds the ball as Beaver (26) makes an extra point attempt in demolishing Gastonia.

After whitewashing West Mecklenburg with three touchdown passes in the first half, Beaver and the first unit retired to allow the reserves to gain game experience. Having regained confidence in their prowess, the team gambled in an attempt to break open the playoff game, but their finesses failed as the whole team struggled until the bitter end with one-hundred per cent effort the whole way.

Completing 104 of 225 passes for 1,796 yards and averaging 2.1 touchdown passes a game, the Mustangs boasted a balanced offense with Bud Phillips, Mike Stevenson, and George Elliott catching 30, 31, and 28 passes respectively, while halfback Don Sanford powered the running attack. Defensive stalwarts John Cornelius, Hugh Martin, Mike Richey, and Bill Bolen held the line while halfbacks Jerry Kiser and David Tinsley defended the secondary. Many players warranted honors like these: Bill Bolen, All-County; Mike Stevenson, All-County; John Cornelius, Shrine Bowl, All-County, and All-State; and Jeff Beaver, All-County, All-State, Shrine Bowl, All-Southern, and All-American.

High-flying JVs conclude season victoriously

Coach Stuart Allen with the able assistance of Coach Johnny Lee inspired the junior varsity football team to a successful 3-1-1 season. Although disappointed at having only five games to play, the boys were ready and running at the beginning and end of each game.

Garinger was the first team to fall under Rick Arrington's accurate passes. Following this victory the team met disappointment with South and Gastonia. South barely managed to salvage a tie, while at Gastonia the Colts, fighting a formidable lead in the closing minutes of the game, finally managed to rip into the scoring column and were driving toward the tieing touchdown when the gun sounded. In the season's last two games the linemen were outstanding, as the Ponies whipped Harding and East. The final game was the most spectacular with end Bobby Jones getting two of the team's four scores.

Enduring Harriers capture Western 4-A title

Timers and spectators watch as Robert Dean is the first runner to cross the finish line.

Robert Dean, Dick Starnes, and Billy Weldon, three hard-running seniors, led the Mustang cross-country team to a very successful 8-1 season, taking the Western 4-A Conference meet by eleven points. Beginning on the first day of school, their practice led to a perfect score in the first meet against West Mecklenburg. North and South Mecklenburg told the same story as our Mustangs took all of the top-ranking places. Nevertheless, the most outstanding clash was at Hendersonville. Although the team had never run the rocky and hilly course, when the final runner had crossed the finish line, the harriers reigned supreme.

The final and most important meet was the state championship, run in Chapel Hill on a muddy course and complicated by crowded conditions. Here the long hours the boys had put into extensive training repaid them in full, but even this was not enough. Fighting the elements, the harriers put out all they had to gain second place in the state. They were so close on the heels of the winners that they lost by only one point. Robert Dean, our leading runner, placed second out of one-hundred and sixty entries, with senior Billy Weldon and junior Monroe Gilmour placing twelfth and fifteenth, respectively.

In the meet with South Mecklenburg at Freedom Park, George Edwards, Billy Weldon, Robert Dean, and Buddy Poole begin to move forward as the runners spread out and settle down to a steady pace.

Mustang Cagers run up 18-2 record for year

Swish! Swish was the only sound heard above the pounding on the floor of the Myers Park gymnasium as the Mustangs shot one basket after another, opening their conference schedule with a 78-50 rout of Garinger. Their miraculous fast break, made possible by speedy guards, Teddy DuBose and Pete Ayers, led them in following victories over South and Gastonia, highlighted by DuBose's 22-point performance in both games. Then, following the holidays, the Mustangs whittled Rock Hill with their speed and maneuverability, culminating in 15 points from Stuart McKaig and 17 from Pete Ayers. At Asheville DuBose let loose with a 25-point spree which helped the round ballers stomp Asheville. This merely sharpened the team's desire for victory, and in the next game against Harding the backboards caved in. The Mustangs played like professionals with speed and precision, for, every time Elliott and Beaver cleared the boards, Ayers and DuBose were waiting downcourt for the "snowbird" passes. But even more skill was exhibited in the execution of the plays; the ball seemed to zip from passer to receiver with exactness obtained only from long hours of practice. Most of the shots were made good by Elliott who gave a 21-point performance, followed by Ayers who made the fast breaks stick. The scoring circus continued as reservist Billy Bane, connecting on 7 out of 9 shots, scored 18 points. The excitement built to a peak in the last minute when the Mustangs had 99, and Shackleford took a rebound up for two points, giving the Mustangs a game record of 101 points.

Guard Pete Ayers (20) pops a jump shot from the corner on a fast break as George Elliott (32) charges down the court to dominate the rebounding in a 101-61 spectacular against Harding.

After winning a hard-fought game against an East slowdown, the Mustangs suffocated North Mecklenburg by playing over, around, and through them. DuBose, Ayers, and McKaig, showing a combination of speed and agility, continually stole the ball from their opponents even when North was attempting to break downcourt. Following an expected thrashing of West Mecklenburg, the Mustangs put Garinger on ice with 20 points from Ayers, supported by 14 points from corner shots by McKaig. The thirteenth victory over South was highlighted by Elliott who dominated the boards. Furthermore, Ayers and DuBose capitalized on this domination by catching long passes on runs downcourt and scoring 20 and 21 points, respectively. After dropping one game to Gastonia, the Cagers regained their poise as they stomped North, then Rock Hill. Sickness in the ranks caused a shaky defeat of Harding, and, despite the newfound talent of Clyde Aiken who scored twenty the following night, the Mustangs were edged by Asheville 61-62. Then the team found new life to demolish East and West, filling out the regular season schedule with the Western 4-A crown under their belts.

Supporting the starters, the Mustang reserves experience much action during the season. Standing: Sehorn, Annas, Cline, Sills, Tatum, Chalmers, Bane. Kneeling: Lee, Gardner, and Fortenbery.

Team sinks 101 against Harding

Going into the Western 4-A Tournament with the crown in hand, Myers Park played true to form by walloping North 56-39. With a deficit at half-time, the Mustangs roared out on the courts at the beginning of third period, ravaging the basket to quell any doubts about their abilities. The semifinals were much the same as the round ballers humiliated Garinger 76-46 by racking up a tremendous lead, then running the Wildcats off the floor; nevertheless, this taste of victory simply whetted their appetites for revenge against Gastonia.

Revenge is what they got, too, when they shot Gastonia 49-43 in an excellent display of teamwork, winning the tournament and placing George Elliott, Pete Ayers, and Teddy DuBose on the all-tourney team. Then DuBose was recognized as the most outstanding player in the conference. Moreover, Ayers and DuBose were named to the All-County first team, and McKaig and Elliott were also elected to All-County berths, while Beaver, Aiken, and Bane received honorable mention. After whipping Wilmington in the quarterfinals of the state tournament, the Mustangs dropped games to Greensboro and Burlington, taking fourth place.

Sturdy JVs finish number two in conference

David Cox snaps a pass to Cecil Hawes as they wait for the forwards to set up for a play.

With the coming of the basketball season, the boys out for JV basketball began practice. When the team was finally chosen, it proved to be very versatile in that it could play either a slow or fast-break offense and do well at the same time. Depending upon the type of game and the situation at the time, the action was dominated by the guards or the big men up front. The two fine, but small, guards, Cecil Hawes and David Cox, led the team on the breaks and driving plays. In addition to this, these two set up the plays with their strong, straight passes and quick dribbling. Under the boards and shots from the corner and the inside were the specialties of the big men. Forwards Dick Babcock and Chuck Edwards hit from the corners, and center Bill Schworm followed underneath. Schworm set a record for the JV's by stuffing in 34 points in one night. John Miller, another forward, gave extra height and good depth to the balanced team.

Under the coaching of Jack Sink, the Ponies had a good season. East Mecklenburg was the only team able to trip them on occasion with a slow-down pace. In one of these games the team lost by only one point and in another by just four. The boys dominated all of the other teams in the conference and out of town with their solid play.

Guard Cecil Hawes fires a jump shot from the outside while David Cox moves in from behind.

Intramural program fosters fitness, fair-play

Football, wrestling, and basketball intramurals are three extra activities that keep the boys of M.P. busy. Besides giving them needed exercise, they instill a desire for good sportsmanship and teamwork. This is especially true of football and basketball. Wrestling is done by the individual who pits his strength and knowledge against that of another.

Myers Park's Senior Hi-Y won the football intramural championship. First they had to contend with the scrappy club and homeroom teams composed of members of all three classes. In the final game of one-hand touch, sophomore section 10-1 was slaughtered by the skilled seniors 37-7.

Next on the agenda were the wrestling intramurals held under the supervision of Coach Jaynes. Bolstered by the participation of around twenty boys and held in both the gym and auditorium basements, the matches were very grueling. Dick Stenhouse and Neal Cisne met in the championship match, and after a lengthy struggle, Stenhouse finally pinned his opponent.

Last and perhaps most exciting of all came basketball. A large number of teams entered into competition in hopes of having a good time and, perhaps, of winning the championship. Coaches Lee and McCann set up the entire intramural schedule and gave their valuable time to the games in all of the programs.

In an intramural basketball game, Jimmy Hough of the Senior Hi-Y tries desperately to break up a pass from David Kiser to Dick Starnes.

Norman Pease leaps high into the air in an effort to block a pass intended for Geoff Bird.

As varsity and junior varsity wrestlers watch, Dick Stenhouse wins the wrestling intramural championship by pinning Neal Cisne. These two went through a string of other matches to reach this one.

Seahorses remain undefeated in 51 dual meets

John Irwin turns at far end of the pool as he planes through the water in a medley relay.

Silence — perfect solitude, a thrust down, a spring up, and a sweeping, graceful flip combined with a twist make up the near perfect diving of Lee Jones, whose prowess culminated in a record-breaking 245.1 points when the Mermen met Needham Broughton of Raleigh here, in the last home meet. But, not to be outdone, the freestyle relay of McGinty, Benoit, Claridge, and Couric set a pool record, too, while Baker and Inderfurth took two first places apiece.

After two months of grueling practice at the Central Y.M.C.A. and victories over Ashley, Grimsley, and East, the Mustangs traveled to Atlanta and came home with the bacon when they won the Emory Invitational with 31 points to spare. Subsequently, the Mermen proceeded to obliterate Chapel Hill High with Baker as winner of both the 200 and 400 freestyle and Clark as a new school record-holder in the 100 breast with 1:10.1. To head a commandeering victory over the previously undefeated UNC freshmen, in the 200 medley, Wyche, Clark, Canady, and Claridge teamed up for an outstanding 151.1 time while, individually, Wyche swam a 103.1 in the 100. The next week the team was once again on the road for the UNC Invitational to bring home a fifth place, ranking above every other high school participating in the meet. A dual meet with Grimsley became the 50th Mustang win as the team won by a 44 point margin with a record-breaking mark of 2:23.1 in the 200 individual medley by Charles Couric. Thus, the seahorses again this year were first in regular season swimming competition in the state, holding their unblemished record of victories. Mac McGarity and David McGinty, co-captains of the swimming team, sparked the winning spirit of the swimming team for every meet.

Practicing and fighting with spirit and determination, the 1963 grapplers defeated all other teams in the newly-formed Western 4-A Wrestling Competition to win the conference championship. Beginning with a victory over Marion, the Mustangs proved their ability with a 58-0 skunk over East. Being vitalized by three weeks of practice in January before the first match, the matmen trounced North 32-7 winning ten of twelve bouts with one draw. The next match determined the conference championship as the grapplers beat South with pins by Hastings at 133 and Boyd at unlimited. Coming up from behind against Marion, there, the Mustangs won in all the matches above 135 division to defeat them with pins by Russell, 95, Gleason, 165, Holmes, 100, and Boyd, unlimited. At Appalachian the matmen lost seven decisions by one point, while co-captains White and Boyd fought to draw at 120 and heavyweight, respectively. After winning the remaining matches, the Mustangs went to the Western District Tournament and placed one first with Boyd and six seconds with Russell, 95; Convey, 103; White, 120; Chapman, 127; Hastings, 133; and Gleason, 165. Ten men qualified for the State Tournament at High Point, and Bill Convey rated state champion in 103 with Bobby Boyd ranking second in unlimited; Ben Sandiford, 145, and Mike White, 120, third; Bill Holmes, 180, and Phil Chapman, 127, fourth.

The 1963 Western 4-A Conference champions took second place in the District and third place in the State Tournament. Front row: Corry, Sauder, Chapman, White, Convey, Hastings, Russell. Second row: Sandiford, Poole, Gleason, Hanks, Boyd, Holmes, Hemphill, Spencer. Third row: Davis and Granger.

Bob Hastings (133 lb. class) drives his man into the mat when he breaks him down with a single-leg ride, contributing three points to the team victory over North with an individual decision.

Ben Sandiford, ranking third in the district and third in the state in 145 class, attempts to execute a fireman's carry in the Western District Wrestling Tournament held at Myers Park this year. In the regular season Sandiford maintained a 10-2 won-lost record, pinning two of his opponents.

Junior varsity wrestlers practice basic rules

Since they had only three meets in which to wrestle, the boys on the JV team spent most of their time in preparation for the time at which they would move up to the varsity. Coach Jaynes taught the basic practices that they were to follow, and from the practice matches that were held between members of the team, the boys gained valuable experience.

Of the three meets in which the boys participated, they won two and lost one. The West Mecklenburg JVs were the first team to fall to them. Next the JVs wrestled the varsity of Hunter Huss. There were two matches between the teams; one was won by our boys and the other by their varsity. Practicing daily until these meets, the boys built their knowledge of the sport and the stamina of themselves.

Talented golf team begins season with several wins

Three seniors, all returning lettermen, led the Mustang golf team this year. They were David Kiser, Walter Daniel, and Stuart McKaig. These three, along with boys from all classes, shot practice rounds before the season began and turned their scores in to Coach Sheppard. Those with the lowest scores met the teams from Fort Mill, Gastonia, and the freshmen from UNC and Wake Forest, winning each of these matches decisively and beginning a successful season.

Looking at last year's championship trophy, the 1963 golf team resolves to win the tournament once again this year. Sitting: Kiser, Daniel. Front row: Townsley, Tom Horton, Tinsley, Aiken, Lucas, Rees, Tim Horton, Carney, Manship, McKaig, Gardner. Second row: Highsmith, Rogers, and Stuckey.

MP netmen go through tough season

Experience was the key word in the comprising of the Myers Park tennis team this season. Just three of the many members returning from last year's team were Larry Connelly, Chip Hanes, and Norman Pease. After practicing hard for four weeks at Freedom Park, these three, backed by many other outstanding players, guided the team through its difficult schedule which included teams from Mecklenburg County, the UNC freshman team, and a team from Elkin. Five out of a total of twelve matches were held on the home court at Freedom Park. Finally, the season came to an end, and early in May the team played at Chapel Hill for two days in matches of both doubles and singles for the state championships.

Norman Pease starts the downswing on his serve in a pre-season practice at Freedom Park.

Pitchers lead Mustang baseball

Wavering from high-spirited group to mysterious question mark, the baseball team has been upset and has created upsets. With the pitching of George Short and John Richards, the Mustangs came up from a deficit to defeat Rock Hill in the last two innings. At Harding, Richards held the Rams hitless for five innings before the Mustangs fell 4-3.

Behind a no-hit performance by sophomore Rick Arrington, the Mustangs pounded in one run after another and piled up a 10-0 victory over Gastonia. Arrington's no-hitter almost fell as the outfielders bobbled a few flies before getting them completely under control; but the fielding was good, and the team proved their worth and forecast a good season ahead.

The 1963 diamond-masters are looking forward to a successful season of baseball. Front row: Edwards, Gunn, Flynn, Wiriden, Ridenhour, Short, Tinsley. Second row: Finley, Grisdale, Byram, DuBose, Moon, Arrington, Estes, Richards. Third row: Benton, Hough, Ayers, Aiken, and Watkins.

The team's number-one miler, Robert Dean races for the finish-line, pressed hard by Jeff West and Monroe Gilmour, as the Mustang trackmen defeat East and Harding in a triangular meet, doubling their combined scores by defeating them 106-39½, hence starting the line of victories.

Beginning practice in February, the Mustang

Bud Phillips skillfully passes the baton to Neal Cisne as the cindermen seize the 880-relay.

Pacing the long hours of practice with spirit and determination, the cindermen began another successful track season with three victories in tri-school meets doubling the scores of all their major opponents Garinger, South, East, Harding, and Hendersonville. The seniors, returning lettermen, form the front ranks on the track with Bill Stewart, Bud Phillips, Neal Cisne, and Stuart Verch in the sprints; Bill Weldon and Dick Starnes in the 880; Mike Jones and Lane Anderson in the 440; and Robert Dean in the mile. Nevertheless, these men were pressed hard by the juniors and sophomores with George Soule in the sprints, Tom MacNeill and Mike Smith in the 440, and Jeff West and Monroe Gilmour in the mile. Preseason practice caused excellent times like the 2:05 880 by Weldon and the 4:45 mile by Dean and West in their first meet against Harding and East. The 880-relay also produced a stupendous display of running as Phillips jumped to a lead in the first leg; Stewart, Soule, and Cisne went on to capture first place, increasing their distance with each lap.

Billy Weldon, the leading 880 man, runs for the tape and another victory for the team effort.

Discus-thrower Bill Bolen, having hurled a near record toss of 150.6 feet, whips the discus as the Mustangs sweep the field events in a tri-school meet against South and Hendersonville at Myers Park. George Elliott, Flake Campbell, and Al Allison add depth to the Mustang discus competition.

Jerry Kiser, vaulting high into the air over the bar, is about to release the pole, during a Mustang victory against East and Harding.

Cindermen aspire to the state championship

The field events were the same with Bud Phillips taking a first in the broad jump, George Elliott in the high jump, Mike Richey, in the shotput, and Flake Campbell, in the discus. Still, the field events found great depth as Lane Anderson and David Berry pushed Phillips to greater distances in the broad jump, while Bill Bolen, throwing the shot and discus both, took two seconds and threatened the first-place distances. In the pole vault, Bob Corry, followed by Jimmy Cromartie and Jerry Kiser, neared the ten-foot mark.

Our strength in the field events was exhibited at Davidson as the team defeated Garinger, North, and the Davidson freshmen in a four-way meet. Elliott and Pierce took second and fourth, respectively, in the high jump; Richey and Bolen, first and second in the shotput; Bolen and Campbell, first and second in the discus; and Corry, second in the pole vault. Weldon sparked with a 2:03.6 for a first in the 880 as Gilmour took third. Dean seized second in the mile, while Bill Stewart ran the high hurdles in 15:1.

Girls initiate athletic program with enthusiasm

Instead of the previous program for girls' athletics under the Girls Recreation Association, a new athletic program, the Girls Athletic Association was initiated. Under the leadership of Mrs. Rotan, Miss Woodruff, and Birch Lipford, president of the club, a solid basis for future programs has been set up. The club is composed of sixty charter members. Each girl, in order to become a member, had to earn twenty-five points through participation in various individual and team sports.

The majority of the sports were organized and led by a committee chairman in charge of the various sports. The team sports consisted of speedball, field hockey, basketball, volleyball, and softball. Individual participation was encouraged in golf, table tennis, archery, bridge, bowling, dancing, horseback riding, tennis, and track and field. Most skills for these sports are taught in the gym classes; however, the club offers an opportunity to learn new skills and improve those already known.

This year the club's activities were highlighted by the organization of field hockey and basketball teams. The hockey team was led by the outstanding plays of Libby Soldati and Betty Shanks. In basketball Dabney Kelley took the responsibilities of captain and was a notable player along with Beth Dobinson.

This club truly enjoyed a full year and has high hopes for as much success in following years as it has had in its first.

Within the 168 pages of the 1963 Mustang are many events in pictures and words which, we hope, will bring to each mind a pleasant memory of our golden year. We have tried to make this book a rewarding treasure for each of you at Myers Park.

This book represents many hours of thought and planning and months of preparation on behalf of the staff; for us, it has been a pleasure to serve Myers Park in this manner. We only hope that you will find the Mustang as rewarding.

However, without the sincere cooperation of the administration, faculty, and students, and the financial assistance of many persons, this book would not be possible. We are indebted to these persons, and we hope that you, the students of Myers Park, will take pleasure in patronizing our advertisers.

We especially acknowledge the following for their invaluable contributions to the 1963 Mustang:

Mr. Frank Fleming, Consultant, Washburn Printing Company;
Mr. Price Coursey, Consultant, Charlotte Engraving Company;
Mr. Earl Powell, Plant Manager, Washburn Printing Company;
Mr. George Snyder, Art Consultant, Charlotte Engraving Company;
Mr. Bill Snell, Cover Consultant, S. K. Smith Company;
Mrs. Virginia Christenbury, Mrs. Jean Howarth, Mrs. Genevieve Stewart, Beverly Studio, senior portraits;
Mr. Bill Renfrow, Delmar Studio, underclass portraits;
Mr. and Mrs. Phil Aull, beauty portraits;
Dr. Lewis and the Myers Park faculty;
The 1963 Staff and Homeroom Representatives;
Mr. Leslie Browne, Advisor;
Mr. Richard Beymer, beauty judge;
Mrs. Philip J. Baugh.

Again, let us express to the student body our thanks for your cooperation in helping to produce the "best Mustang ever."
